An esteemed group of panellist, enthusiastic student moderators, active audience and members of Independent I whole heartedly participated in the panel discussion on “women empowerment”. It took place on 31st jan’14 at AIS Sec-46. The discussion commenced by welcoming of panellist, distributing of brochures and survey questionnaire, viewing a PPT and felicitation of guests my respected Mrs. Arti Chopra ma’am. She first delived her thoughts and views to all the listeners followed by Ms Ruby Khan-associated with Hindustan Times, Dr.Khanna-runs an NGO, Ms Stuti-counsellor, Ms. Seema Nagar-entrepreneur, Ms. Rawley- Social worker. Every panellist along with a few students put forward their views on the topic which was soon followed by a heated debate. The topic of discussion ranged from reservation of seats in the parliament to role at women at the home front to low number of women at board meetings to importance and crucial role of house wives in society. Various domains of womanhood were explored and effective conclusions were drawn. The session was effectively wrapped up by the moderator after an hour long session. An overwhelming poem was recited by one of the panellist which moved the listeners. The discussion broadened every individual’s horizon and the aim of spreading awareness of women empowerment was successfully met.
