Report on the two sessions for 4th Year conducted by The Rain Maker Group on Friday, 6th September 2013

Students of Section-A & B of 4th year attended the talk at 11:30 a.m- 13:30 p.m in the Moot Court Hall, Amity Law School, Delhi.

The Topic of the Special Lecture was “Life Cycle of Business Laws ” by Mr. Nikhil Chandra, Founder of Rainmaker.

The session explored on following points:

1) Concept of Business

2) Business, Brand, and Assets

3) Investment of Capital, and Usage

4) Efficient Market Hypothesis along with Public Stupidity Hypothesis

5) Eligibility, Lock-in, with Disclosures and Continuing Obligations

Mr. Nikhil discussed the basic concepts of Corporate Law and, with three different examples, tried to build up a hypothetical brand with the help of the students by taking their opinion. The hypothetical brand was conceptualized with an idea to give a clue in regard to the investment of capital, investment of assets and the areas of operation which needs consistent attention and development.
Students tried to conceptualize different brands in the areas of power, hotels etc. The discussion tried to lay an efficient market policy along with mandatory disclosures which where felt are necessary for a successful establishment of a brand. Students gave inputs on the allocation of investment, assets and disinvestment. The current economic scenario of our country was also considered while taking care of the aforesaid areas.

The peak of the session came when the discussion was raised in regard to the continuing obligations attached with each hypothetical brand. It was made to understand that continuous obligations are the basis of investment, expansion and usage of a business. The environment of business which included place of business, demand of the place and brand were also thoroughly discussed.

Mr. Nikhil tried to establish that place of business is equally important if some amount of safety is asked by the investors at the initial stage. Once the brand and business is established, the place of business does not play an important role at a later stage. But the anxiety of an investor should be taken care of; otherwise the initial requirement of capital can’t be fulfilled. It was further idealized that a business with single investment and less assets cannot survive with the prevailing cut-throat competition.

The students participated, discussed and mooted on the above points.

REPORT OF ONE DAY WORKSHOP CONDUCTED FOR THE FIRST YEAR STUDENTS

Date: Wednesday 4th September 2013
Venue: F-2 Auditorium Amity Law School Delhi
Speaker: Mr. Antony Alex- CEO Rainmaker.
Topic: Career Options in Law

One day workshop was conducted by Rainmaker, a premier online learning and content company for the first year students of Amity Law School. The Speaker began the session in an interactive way by asking the students what their professional goals are and what they seek to achieve at the end of five years. Various options of the students included private practise, in house counsels, Judicial services, politics, civil services examinations and law firm litigation. The speaker thereafter elaborated that keeping in mind the economic situation of the country achieving these goals is no easy task. There are a huge number of students passing out of law school every year and the jobs are not easy to come by.
Therefore it is imperative for each student to move outside the avenue of just examination oriented studies and aim at having a multidimensional curriculum vitae. Such a well-rounded CV must consist of law firm internships, moot court achievements, academic excellence, extra-curricular activities and courses aimed at updating of knowledge.

It was emphasised that as far as updating of knowledge is concerned the Rainmaker Group offers various online courses such as courses on Mergers and Acquisition, Sports Law etc. The online courses provide reading material by experts, virtual classrooms, supplementary materials, practise exercises, mechanism for learning and discussion, modern pedagogy and an objective type examination at the end of the course. Certificate on the successful completion of the course is also provided. It was told to the students of 1st year course on legal writing and professional communication would be beneficial. Various discount options were also given out.

The students benefitted immensely and were curious to know more about Mylaw.net and the various courses available online.
