Best Practice of AIIS:

Research Assistants and Teaching Assistants practice are considered as the best practice in AIIS.

Key Notes for Research Assistants:

Use the internet, surveys, legal documents, and other published research to help the person they are assisting. Write papers and collate information, Scribble notes etc.

Benefits of becoming Research Assistants:

1. Understand publishing and data collation
2. Helps determine area of interest
3. Building skills and enhancing CV skill
4. Opportunity for publishing with your assigned supervisor

Key Notes for Teaching Assistants:

As a revised and unique placement initiative we have decided to help u create a Portfolio for better placements in the upcoming semesters. As all of you would like to have good opportunities knocking your door and do not wish to leave this place in confusion start working on the following:

Create a google word document which should be sent to placementsaiis@gmail.com.

This will be updated monthly so that a proper record is maintained for you. The following things need to be updated in the below mentioned format:

Objective- i) Research objective ii) Teaching Objective (Please write both as we may apply in any two of these categories)

Educational Qualification: Make a table, Begin from current to class 10 and any other diploma/certification/ etc. you have done

Experience/Internship: For most of you this will be internship. Conferences attended/participated/organised

Expertise: Mention all NTCC you have written, add any other term paper/ projects etc. make a list.

Skills: Mentions Strengths and Limitation

Languages Known: Read, Write and Speak; Extra- Curricular Achievements: Mention it in details everything you can and you know. List all your potentials

References: Every one of you can possibly contact with numbers/Names/ details. Remember this is not your CV, this is your portfolio. This is like a reservoir. We will keep adding to it and making it stronger. Scribble anything that you think is relevant for you

All of you who wish to start your own business/think tank/startup/school anything mention that in your Portfolio in the last page (after creation of above mentioned document with the following things: What type of plan you have? Is it funded? You want to plan funding? What is your rough scribble plan? Which sector you wish to do it? Draft a rough plan.
