

Amity University Madhya Pradesh organizes a workshop on Creative Writing

Amity School of Languages, Amity University Madhya Pradesh organized a Creative Writing Workshop for the students of English Literature (Minor Tracks). The workshop was conducted by eminent orator and writer Dr. Charu Chitra, Professor, Govt. PG Auto KRG College on March 28, 2019 for the students of English Literature (Minor Track). The workshop was organized with the aim of nurturing the creative talent of budding writers of the university.

Dr Charu Chitra described creativity as ability, an attitude, and a process. The speaker elaborated upon different techniques of creative writing, role of imagination in descriptive writing, and impact of metaphor, imagery, simile and personification in poetry. The students thoroughly enjoyed the Video clippings related to creative ideas and penned down their stories and poems to explore their own imaginative potential and literary flair for creative writing.

The workshop concluded with an interactive session with the guest. The students were enthusiastic and actively participated in presenting their views and displayed a deep understanding of creative writing. The lecture was attended by 30 students of English literature.
