The Department of Civil Engineering ASET, AUMP has organized a visit to a multi-storeyed building construction site at Sirol, Gwalior on 21st November, 2020. Dr. Vimal Kumar Gupta, HOD and Dr Mohan Kantharia, Assistant Professor, of Civil Engineering has co-ordinated and supervised the visit. Some of the students of final year B.Tech Civil Engineering have joined the Civil Engineering faculty members at the site. However, rest of the students have joined through MS Team Online platform. Most of the students have preferred to join the visit through online medium due to the Covid-19 pandemic situation. All the Covid protocols were strictly followed by the visiting members. The observation from the construction site is as follows. In multi-storey buildings, the design of the primary structure is strongly influenced by many issues, as defined below: The need to provide clear floor spans for more usable space. The choice of cladding system, planning requirements, which may limit the building height and the. Maximum floor-to-floor zone. The service strategy and effective integration of building service. Site conditions, which dictate the foundation system and location of, foundations Craneage limitations and storage space for materials and components, Speed of construction, which may influence the number of components that, are used and the installation process. The building is of Reinforced Concrete Cement (RCC) type. The construction of the foundation is at present going on. In some parts, the construction of columns and slabs were undergoing. Lecture on National Mathematics Day, which is the birth anniversary of Srinivasa Ramanujan, the Self-taught Indian Mathematics genius.

On Dec 22nd, the National Mathematics Day has been celebrated by the Department of Applied Mathematics, Amity School of Engineering and Technology, which is the birth anniversary of Srinivasa Ramanujan, the self-taught Indian mathematics genius, whose legacy includes many formulas that were new and surprising and that took many years for others to prove.

The day is recognized to commemorate his greatness and contributions in the field of mathematics like infinite series, number theory, mathematics analysis etc.

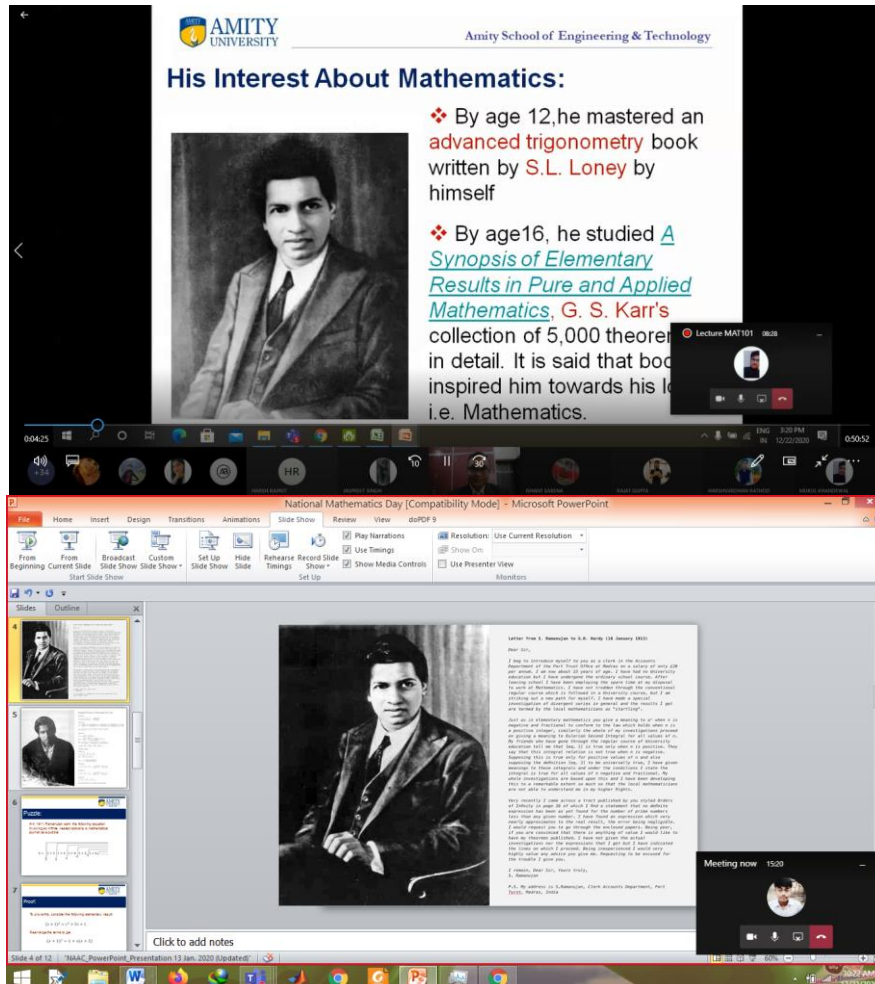

On this occasion, Dr. Santosh Kumar Sharma, HoD, Mathematics, ASET delivered a lecture to describe his life span and their contribution in the field of mathematics of such legendary mathematician, in all the first year classes through MS team. In the lecture, it was elaborated that he was never formally trained in the subject, yet he became one of the greatest mathematicians of all time.

Without any formal training of mathematics Srinivasa Ramanujan created several concepts and theorems of mathematics. By the age of 12 he mastered the advanced trigonometry book by S. L. Loney and at the age of 16 he studied the book A synopsis of elementary results in pure and applied mathematics (containing 5000 theorems) written by G. S. Karr. In 1913, he started working with G. H. Hardy and J. E. Littlewood great English mathematicians. Then, he went to England and worked with G.H. Hardy for some time. But, due to his illness he returned India in 1919 and died on 26th April, 1920. During his very short span of life, he contributed 3900 results on Mathematics.

The celebration has been coordinated by all faculty members of Mathematics department.

- Are like coins flowing in Ganga river in India.
- You have to be small..., go deep and collect these coins.
- Coins do not belong to your domain.
- Many people throw these coins in holy river Ganga, obviously they are rich by money or rituals.
- There is an interesting story related to one of my inventor friend Dr./Dr. D. K. Sharma, a double PhD.
- So, outcome of the story telling is; be small, get rid of ego and doer ship, do the things differently, people undoubtedly laugh and not at all think of them. Obviously the people have never ever seen these stranges.

- Don't be afraid of most toxic thought i.e. people will laugh.
- Obviously the people will laugh because you are an unusual thinker and the people have never ever seen this creativity as you are the first in this field and that is a very first step of your invention.
- If you are a usual thinker, you will always be on the highways where you will find a cluster of fast running vehicles, turbulence, disturbances, restlessness and that altogether will not at all leave any space in your mind for an unusual thinking.

Industrial Visit to "The Supreme Industries Limited", Gwalior, MP

Amity School of Engineering and Technology, Amity University Gwalior organized an Industrial visit at M/s The Supreme Industry Ltd, Malanpur Plant Gwalior-475001, Madhya Pradesh, India on 26th May 2022 from 09:30 AM to 4:00 PM.

The Supreme Industry Ltd. had invited our Architecture and Civil Engineering Students and Faculties for an Industrial visit to the Knowledge Centre & Factory manufacturing unit of Plastic Pipes & Fittings at their Malanpur Plant through Corporate Resource Center (CRC) – AUMP. Supreme Industries Limited is an Indian plastics company, based in Mumbai. It handles volumes of over 420,000 tons of polymers annually. The company manufactures industrial and engineering molded furniture products, storage and material handling crates, multi-layer sheets, multi-layer films, packaging films, expanded polyethylene foam, PVC pipes, fittings, molded furniture, shatranj mats, and disposable EPS containers.

The Students of the Department of Civil Engineering, ASET, AUMP has learned the following information and knowledge from The Supreme Industries Limited, Malanpur plant.

- Piping is one of the most important system requirements in any industry. We need different piping products for various industrial applications like transportation of corrosive chemicals, hot and cold process water, abrasive materials, compressed air, etc.
- Conventional metal piping products have many demerits like poor resistance to corrosion and abrasion, chemical reactivity, short and uncertain life span, and repeated maintenance requirements.
- This leads to leakages, and process interruptions and can badly affect the overall performance of the plants. Hence conventional products are not ideal to handle such aggressive materials; therefore we need efficient advanced piping systems.
