4.3.2 University as a body host events at university that are open to the general public

Amity University Madhya Pradesh (AUMP), Gwalior, regularly organizes a wide range of academic and professional events throughout the year, open to participants from within and outside the university. These events include international and national conferences, seminars, lecture series, and workshops, conducted in both online and offline modes. Each institute or school under AUMP hosts events aligned with its specific academic themes and disciplines, encouraging cross-disciplinary learning and collaboration.

Participants from various reputed institutions, universities, and organizations actively register and contribute to these events, fostering a vibrant exchange of ideas and knowledge. To ensure broad participation, detailed information brochures and event invitations are circulated to institutions across India and abroad.

Distinguished resource persons and experts from premier universities and research organizations are invited to deliver lectures and interact with participants, providing valuable insights and academic enrichment. These interactions significantly enhance learning, promote research orientation, and inspire innovative thinking among attendees.

In several instances, such events also serve as platforms for signing Memorandum of Understanding (MoUs) with national and international institutions, paving the way for future academic partnerships and collaborative research initiatives. Through these sustained efforts, AUMP continues to strengthen its role as a hub of academic excellence and intellectual exchange.
