TensorFlow in Practice

In this specialization, you got a grounding in what you need to get started with TensorFlow: In Practice. The goal was to help you take the next steps, such as going deeper into understanding Machine Learning and the practice of understanding loss functions, optimizers and more, or perhaps you want to know more about neural networks and the different types of layers, from convolutions to recurrent or LSTM. Now that you have used some of them and seen the impact of different layer types in practice, you can go forward equipped to go deeper! Laurence Moroney is an Al Advocate at Google Research
