Introduction

- The Healthcare industry has become more open to the latest technologies and IT services platforms, bringing drastic changes in the industry.
- Recent studies and statistics show that technological advancements are transforming the industry.
- Along with opportunities, certain concerns also arise.

Wearables and tracking devices

Wearables become part of everyday healthcare processes as interfaced with an existing healthcare delivery model. According to Statista, wearable technology market is set to rise from less than $1 billion in 2015 to $10 billion in 2020.

Patient centered care which focuses on individual healthcare needs is found to minimize or reduce unnecessary and costly treatment plans which need referral to specialists.

Data security is a top concern that everyone has, when dealing with huge amounts of data. Papers and procedures are finding ways to increase data security and avoid violations of HIPAA and similar acts.

Increased data demands is also a driving factor for the healthcare industry. 2 million GB is the expected amount of health care data generated by an individual in his/her lifetime. With such huge amounts of data available for determining every healthcare aspect of a person from surgery plans to diet regimen, data needs to be maintained and analyzed for getting the right healthcare recommendation.

It is an ancient and beautiful practice of India that is linked to all aspects, namely, physical, spiritual, and mental. It calms and relaxes your body and soul. It helps an individual to stay fit and healthy. Practicing yoga has a bundle of benefits linked to it. Even though it is an age-old practice it is still relevant, it has gained more popularity in the recent past even in the western world. Looking at the modern stressful lifestyle of almost every age group weather it's a student going to school or an adult working in the office there is a dire need of practicing yoga meditation that can help them lead a life in peace. Meditation is the practice of thinking deeply in silence, in order to make the mind calm. Effective meditation is a relaxation technique like yoga and deep breathing that activates the body's relaxation response. When meditation is practiced regularly, it leads to decrease in our stress levels in everyday life. Meditation gives a boost in our feelings of happiness and calmness. It increases our ability to stay cool, calm and composed under pressure. Research has shown that meditation has benefits on mental health, including decrease in depression, increase in positive emotional state and increases in the ability to deal with unavoidable stressful conditions in life.

Meditation has also been practiced for thousands of years. Meditation originally was meant to help deepen understanding of the sacred and mystical forces of life. These days, meditation is commonly used for relaxation and stress reduction. When you meditate, you may clear away the information overload that builds up every day and contributes to your stress.

Yoga and Meditation is very useful to balance the physical and mental health and develops spirituality to live a natural life with moral and ethical values. Yoga and meditation when practiced together reinforce the connection between mind and body, improving mainly health and well-being. Both yoga and meditation have proven health benefits when practiced regularly.

People under stress are less likely to exercise and can get prone to addiction and rely on junk food. Therefore, during stress we should follow breathing technique through left nostril (Surya Nadi) which gives instant relaxation by activating sympathetic and parasympathetic system. It enlightened the power of pause to deal with amygdala hijack through meditation. Meditation is coordinate geometry of daydreaming, frustration, concentration, and meditation. It is an integrated practice. He then discussed about heartfulness meditation and decision making.

Panel Discussion

The Gender Cell of Amity University Rajasthan organized a Panel Discussion on “Women in Leadership: Achieving an equal future in a COVID-19 World” on 8th March 2021, to mark the celebration of International Women’s Day.

The panelists were:

Prof Amit Jain

Pro-Vice-Chancellor, Dean, faculty of Management, Amity University Rajasthan

Mrs. Deepa Mathur

Entrepreneur, Founder- NGO Qualis.

Ms. Deeti Dave

Technologist, Entrepreneur, TEDx Speaker.

Mr. Mathew Cherian

Global Ambassador for Ageing HelpAge International

Prof. Vinita Agrawal, Director, ADDOE & Chairperson-Gender Cell, well moderated the event.

The highlights of the discussion were:

- 1) There is some inequality in the leadership roles for women in the corporate sector. A strategy needs to be developed to empower women in leadership roles.
- 2) One of the reasons for this gap is that aggressive or bossy women are not liked by people in the corporate world.
- 3) Women are more evolved and mentally more strong than men and during COVID-19 challenging times, the women even in the rural areas realized their true potential and every woman is a real corona warrior.
- 4) Women suffered extreme job losses both in the organized and unorganized sector during the pandemic.
- 5) Women had a hard time achieving work life balance. Even though the family stayed united and men helped women in household chores, women had to do more to satisfy the needs of family as well as work from home responsibilities.
- 6) To put women into leadership roles, we need to train our boys to develop gender equality in the society and change their mindset right from childhood.
- 7) Access to technology also plays a great role in women empowerment.
- 8) With COVID work from home being the new normal, women will get more flexibility in their work hours allowing them to spend more time with family.
- 9) In fact time flexibility will improve the productivity of the employees whether male or female in any organization.

10) While work from home option will tend to the practical gender needs of a woman, it will curtail the strategic needs of leadership roles women could effectively play.

Prof. Vinitaa Agarwal, Chairperson-Gender Cell and Dr. Vigi Chaudhary, Member-Gender Cell was the Overall Coordinators of the event.

Mitchel Modi, BALLB – 9th Semester Amity University, Rajasthan (First Prize Winner)

“Not everyone gets an opportunity, but when one gets, we must make best use out of it. The essay competition was intended to provide a platform to the law students across the country for their participation and showcasing their research and writing skills and abilities.

Firstly, my greatest appreciation goes to Prof (Dr.) Saroj Bohra Ma'am, Director, Amity Law School. The simple lifestyle and helping nature of Ma'am is always an inspiration to me. Her guidance and useful advice “Writing is all about three things, research, expression and thought process, and editing. The more you write, the better you get” has motivated me in excelling this competition.

Secondly, I would like to thank the Event Coordinators of Amity Law School for organizing the National Essay Writing Competition and providing us such a platform to present our ideas.

The whole process of writing and researching was really enriching. I really think that such contests help your personal growth and give you confidence. Every time I think about how our Indian Legal System is, a thought would arise in my mind that if certain changes are imposed it would be the best. I felt I had got a better chance to convey my ideas and I must use it to the fullest. This essay competition helped me to think deep over the topic and learn new information on the subject while researching the same”.

Nikhil Purohit, BALLB – 9th Semester Amity University, Rajasthan (First Prize Winner)

“Firstly, I would like to thank you for this incredible award, National Legal Essay writing competition really had been a magical competition for me; it was a dream come true to compete with such a top talent of India and winning the Essay competition. National Legal Essay competition has been really important for Amity, it has not only given an excellent opportunity to present our knowledge and talent but also gave a lot of confidence to each one of the participants to add a feather in professional journey for Law.

I would like to thank to our respected Director professor Dr. Saroj Bohra who encouraged, motivated and have always been very supportive to each Amitian. Her guidance & continuous motivation to each of the student has always been really helpful in building knowledge and defining a professional path for each one of us.

I would also like to thank Event Co-ordinator for arranging this best in class Essay writing competition and for making this Even a great success with seamless execution.

Thanks again to Amity Law School for such an opportunity and recognition.”

“I would like to add my regards and appreciation to Amity Law School, Amity University Rajasthan for conducting such type of competition. All the topics given were very much relevant at present times and it was enlightening to research the same. Doubts and queries too were redressed promptly and effectively. It was a good experience overall.”

Jeny Augustian, School of Indian Legal Thought, Mahatma Gandhi University, Kerala (Second Prize Winner)

“I would like to add my regards and appreciation to Amity University for conducting the competition. The topics of Legal Essay Competition were very contemporary for the present legal issues and suitable for law students to utilize their time productively in this pandemic and it was enlightening to research the same. Doubts and queries too were redressed promptly and effectively. It was a good experience overall.”

Sukhmanjot kaur, Punjab University Regional Centre, Ludhiana (Third Prize Winner)

“I am Sukhmanjot kaur one of the many participants of this Essay writing competition organized by Amity Law School, Amity University Rajasthan. I have been lucky enough to have professors who go beyond their professional duty to encourage students to participate in events and competitions. So, I came to know about this competition through my professor Dr. Ashish Virk. I saw the proposal and guidelines of the event and found that the topics were very interesting. They were all pertinent issues and being a law student, I felt that it would be a good opportunity to gain knowledge and experience. I have always been really fond of writing but writing about Socio-legal issues was new to me. There was lot of anxiety, though it wasn't an exam. I did my research and with little nervousness have mailed it on the prescribed address. In a few days Amity University sent me an email announcing the results. I was excited to see my name on that list. It was an accomplishment that I made by myself. And since writing has always been important to me this competition will serve as an encouragement for any future events that I would wish to participate in. I thank Amity University to organize this event and open its doors to people all over India.”

An Instagram Live Interactive Session was held on 26th April, 2020 which had the remarkable presence of 70-80 attendees. The session was hosted by Dr. Tanushri Mukherjee, Associate Professor, Amity School of Communication, Amity University Rajasthan. The eminent speaker of the session was Mr. Vincent Vincent, India’s one of the leading beatboxers, a great musician and a phenomenal entertainer and presenter.

The session began with introducing the major areas of the session and also a brief introduction of the speaker by the host. The session was in a very conversational style and Mr. Vineet took the participants to the journey of his life and how he just started his career from a scratch as an emcee way long back in 2007 and how slowly- slowly just on the basis of his hard work, conviction and his passion he was able to create a mark for himself in the highly competitive world of being an anchor and an entertainer.

Mr. Vineet talked about some of the major areas where students need to work in order to be successful in their professions and to create a mark for themselves and he primarily mentioned that your hard work and the resultant positive word of mouth publicity has no substitute and the matra for excelling in life is to learn to find out what are the irrelevant and non essential things of ones’s life. The session was very engaging and extremely lively as vineet also talked about the present trends and problems of the media industry, specially commenting about the stories and news updates or posts of people on social media which can have disastrous consequences if not verified or checked. Being a fabulous musician too, Mr. Vineet ended by singing few lines from the song written and composed by him and revealing that he is very soon looking forward to launching his own album. The session ended by Dr. Tanushri expressing her heartfelt thanks to Mr. Vineet for sharing some of the very valuable insights related to his area of expertise which proved out to be highly informative for the attendees

10. Details of the Events:

First ASAP- Industry Advisory Council Meet was conducted under the leadership of Dr. Jitendra Singh with the stakeholders to assure industry engagement in the pedagogy so that both industry and education can mutually share the benefits towards preparing “Industry Ready” graduates.

Broad areas of discussion included academic content, pedagogy, industry exposure for faculty as well as students, internships and placements.

The invitees were extended warm welcome by Dean & Director ASAP and faculty members. The session commenced with the introductory presentation of Amity University Rajasthan and Amity School of Planning & Architecture by Ar.Nishant Saxena – Associate Professor- ASAP.

Key issues were identified and possibilities were brainstormed by the members.

The Hon’ble President welcomed all the invitees and briefed them with the overview of Amity University Rajasthan’s initiative to connect with the stakeholders and industry across all the disciplines seeking symbiotic association.

After brief-self introduction following Key points were raised by the experts:

Ar. Balbir Verma:

- Curriculum must relate to profession.
- The Vision must shift from how we can serve the society to how we can raise the society.
- Housing must be encouraged as Thesis Project and conducted in detail.
- Less attention is given to small civil works and suitability to small metro areas. Therefore, curriculum must prepare graduates to be able to execute small projects in non-metro areas.
- School must formulate/ adopt construction projects related to community development.
- Involvement of School in the construction, expansion, planning and development of the campus.
- How to work with Engineers, Service- Consultants must be inculcated in the curriculum.
- More emphasis on Hands-on learning
- Course of Professional Practice must be re-invented to impart essential professional learnings. It must be taught in the semester preceding thesis.
- Education need not be regimental. Internship choices must be flexible.
- History of Cultures must be introduced other than History of architecture and the focus should be towards understanding the context that created architecture of the past.
- Architectural Graphics must be continued till the final year of the program.

- Cultural must also be looked as learning opportunities towards profession. A Theatre play called “Tender for Taj Mahal “may be brought during cultural program as an eye opener.

Ar. Alok Mehta:

- Large gap between Industry and academia may be met by two-way continuous interaction with professionals – for example, professionals working along with students in the studio.
- Architect’s training is more of a problem solver and integrator. Therefore, besides Building design, the qualities of B.Arch graduate can be utilized across avenues offered by different disciplines. This shall enhance career options, employability and placements.
- Five day interdisciplinary workshop for “Model Project development” including students, faculties and professions from Architecture, Business School and Engineering may be conducted to impart real world project experience and group dynamics.
- Accuracy must be emphasized towards Architectural Documentation.

Ar. Biswajit Sen Gupta:

- Change is inevitable. The curriculum must be based on the present needs and along with the anticipation of the future course that the profession is going to take.
- Specialization is the need of the hour and scope for preparing graduates for these specialized jobs must be included in the curriculum.
- Futuristic curriculum must be developed.

Ar. Mukul Goyal:

- Counseling of the students at the beginning of the course and each semester to orient them towards overall targets they need to achieve to practice architecture.
- External mentorship by professionals who may be selected by the students or by the School/ University. This must be strategically placed for 3rd year and Thesis Students.
- Multidisciplinary approach towards project exercises – Sociology, Management, Fine Arts, Animation etc, Construction execution, Quantification and Building Economics must be included
- Project formulation in association with JDA where Studies and Design proposals by students receive Feedbacks from stakeholders and work is exhibited in the public domain. Alternatively, School may adopt a project from any government agency.
- The curriculum must also train graduates to work in the rural areas and handle project at local level.
- Material Suppliers/ Product suppliers must be included in the dissemination of Coursework where they are included for guest lectures and design reviews.
- Intensive software training introduced right from the first year. Sketch based assignments must also be emphasized.
- Faculty may do consultancy projects and remain engaged partially with the industry.

Alumni:

- Small Residential Project for Architectural Thesis instead of large scale projects.
- Thesis Project Design should be completely detailed out and executable.
- The above two points are perceived as to be industry ready by the graduates.

Post Lunch - the Program Structure and pedagogy of both the programs of ASAP namely B.Arch and B.ID were presented by Ar. Prashant Vijayvargiya – Associate Professor – ASAP.

Mementoes were presented to the invitees from the industry and alumni by Director – ASAP to mark the end of the session.

Key Decisions/Concluding Remarks:

1. Curriculum must be industry oriented to prepare industry ready graduates.
2. Increase in inviting manufacturers and material suppliers to School for product presentations – Experts assured to extend their support.
3. CRC to play key role in Internship and Placement and need to be planned in advance.
4. Emphasize on Experiential Learning
5. Joint “Model Project Development” by ASAP, ASSET & ABS to experience their relative roles
6. External Mentors in Project Thesis conducted in Final Year of B. Arch and B.ID
7. More visits to construction sites to showcase the different stages of construction.
8. Experts agreed to provide some real time smaller projects to school for getting design proposals from students.
9. New/latest Softwares to be introduced for student’s training as per the trend in industry.
10. Studio projects may be formulated/ adopted from live projects proposed by government agencies like JDA and design proposals by students must be exhibited in the public domain.

Second International conference on 'Sustainability in Planning, Architecture, Technology & Engineering' on 31st January & 1st February, 2019

2. Name of the Event: SPATE 2019
3. Venue of the Event: Auditorium, AUR

4. Attended by no. of Students/No. of the Faculty: 160

5. Details of the Events:

In India, the building construction industry produces the second largest amount of demolition waste and greenhouse gases (35-40%). The major consumption of energy in buildings is during construction and later in lighting or air-conditioning systems, which is bound to increase in the coming years. Thus, to reduce widespread damage to the environment, sustainable development is the need of the hour. India also in its INDC (Intended Nationally Determined Contributions) committed primarily to reduce emission intensity of its GDP by 33-35% by 2030 from 2005 levels; achieve about 40% cumulative electric power installed capacity from non-fossil fuel based energy resources (mainly renewable like wind and solar power) by 2030; and to create an additional carbon sink of 2.5 to 3 billion tons of CO₂ equivalent through additional forest and tree cover by 2030.

ASAP at AUR has always believed that Spatial Planning, Architectural Design and along with Engineering & Technology have a key role that can help us to steer in this direction. Thus this Second International conference on 'Sustainability in Planning, Architecture, technology & Engineering' was organized to come closer and set the path for future.
